COMPOUND RENAL PILLS

Are a safe and speedy Remedy for the above dangerous complaints, Discharges and Diseases of the Urinary Organ, generally, which too frequently harass the sufferer over the best years of life, and end only in an agonising death. For weakness across the loins, sandy or other deposit in the water, and in all cases of renal or urinary disturbance, they are, indeed, unrivalled. They correct acidity of the stomach, and promote the functions of the kidneys, thereby preventing stone in the bladder, &c. Many complaints, long supposed to be nervous, often arise solely from contamination of the blood with certain impurities which should have been carried off by the kidneys. Thousands of testimonials from grateful Patients attest their marvellous efficacy. In packages, 2s. 6d. and 4s. 6d.

PILULÆ VITÆ, OR

VEGETABLE LIFE PILLS.

The most wonderful Pills in the world for Indigestion, Biliousness, and all Disorders of the Liver, Stomach and Bowels. Their action is mild yet effectual; they do not gripe or purge, and for habitual constipation, loss of appetite, disturbed sleep, harassing dreams, wind, indigestion, sick headache, furred tongue, unpleasant taste in the mouth on rising in the morning, sallowness, scurvy, pimples, blotches, boils, &c., they are of unequalled efficacy; and being prepared solely from the vegetable kingdom, may be taken by the most delicate of either sex, equally with the robust, merely regulating the dose according to the printed directions accompanying each box.

Those who are subject to occasional attacks of Biliousness instead of resorting to the old-fashioned blue pill and nauseous black draught, will do well to keep a box of these Pills by them, as a few doses will prevent them: an attack may thus be nipped in the bud by taking a dose or two, which, if allowed to run its course for a few days, would probably almost completely prostrate its unhappy victim. Sold in boxes at 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d. and 4s. 6d.

"91, Commercial Road, Peckham, July 12.
"Dear Sirs,—I am a poor soul at expressing my feelings, but I should like to thank you for your lozenges have done wonders in relieving my terrible cough. Since I had the operation of Tracheotomy performed on the late Emperor of Germany and which has left me still alive, possibly have used a more efficient cough remedy, but at times that it quite exhausted me. The mucus which was very copious and hard, has been softened and I have been able to get rid of it without difficulty. I am, etc. (name given) J. HILL."

MEDICAL NOTE.
"The above speaks for itself. From strict inquiry it appears that the benefit from using Keating's Cough Lozenges is understated. The operation was a specially severe one, and was performed by the specialist, Dr. H. T. Butlin, of St. Bartholomew's Hospital. Since the operation the only means of relief is the use of the Lozenges. So successful are they that one affords immediate benefit, although from the nature of the case the throat irritation is intense."

UNRIVALLED TESTIMONY:
Under date Sept 8th, 1891, Mr. Hill again writes:—"I should long since have been dead but for your Lozenges—they are worth their weight in gold. I will gladly see and tell anyone what a splendid cough remedy they are."
Keating's Cough Lozenges, the unrivalled remedy for COUGH, HOARSENESS, and THROAT TROUBLES, are sold in Bottles by all Chemists.

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.
SIR G. DUNCAN GIBB, Bart., M.D.,
Physician to the Westminster Hospital.
"The value of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL as a therapeutic agent in a number of diseases, chiefly of an exhaustive character, has been admitted by the world of medicine; but, in addition, I have found it a remedy of great power in the treatment of many Affections of the Throat and Larynx, especially in Consumption of the latter, where it will sustain life when everything else fails."
DR. SINCLAIR COGHILL,
Physician to the Royal National Hospital for Consumption, Ventnor.
"I have convinced myself that in Tubercular and the various forms of Strumous Disease, DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL possesses greater therapeutic efficacy than any other Cod Liver Oil with which I am acquainted. It was especially noted, in a large number of cases in which the pancreatic juice was deficient, that it never, but rarely failed to retain, or digest when other Cod Liver Oil, that DR. DE JONGH'S OIL was not only tolerated, but taken readily, and with marked benefit."
JOSEPH J. POPE, Esq., M.R.C.S.,
Late Staff Surgeon, Army, Professor of Hygiene, Birkbeck Institution, London.
"I found during my Indian experience that the worth and character of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL remained unchanged by tropical heat or foreign climate, and it was from its uniformity of character, particularly adapted for long-continued administration. The value of 'hydro-carbons' in all debilitated states of the system is now becoming thoroughly recognised; and it is without doubt, from the animal oils and fats, rather than from their vegetable substitutes, that we may hope to derive the surest benefit. The Oil of DR. DE JONGH places in everyone's reach a reliable and valuable remedy, one that cannot be too widely recognized."
DR. R. C. CROFT,
Author of "Handbook for the Nursery."
"DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL is a specific in many of the diseases peculiar to Infancy and Childhood, and I have seen marked benefit produced by its use. Patients prefer it to the Pale Oils, and are able to retain it more comfortably."
DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL is supplied ONLY in IMPERIAL Half-Pints, Pints and Quarts, with Revenue Stamp, bearing the signature of the Sole Consignees, [illegible]

CRIMINAL TRESPASS.—At the Girgaum Police Court yesterday, Govind Krishna was charged by Inspector Butterfield, with criminal trespass in the house of Umed Rukma. On the night of the 2nd instant the complainant left his house and went out on business. Shortly after this, a neighbour of the complainant heard a noise, and on going near his room found the door open. He called out, but no reply being given, he entered the room and saw the accused, upon which the accused ran away, throwing away an iron chisel, with which he had opened the door of the room. The accused was arrested on the public road. In his defence, he stated that he was taking the chisel to the market for sale, when two Hindus ran after him shouting out "thief, thief." Hearing the cry, he threw away the chisel, and, began to run. The Magistrate disbelieved the story of the accused, and, convicting him, sentenced him to three months' rigorous imprisonment.

MURDER OF A HINDU GIRL.

ON Thursday afternoon, a Hindu informed the police that the dead body of a Hindu girl was lying in an unoccupied jowlee hut, near the Matunga Police Chowky. On inquiries made by Mr. Crummy, Acting Deputy Commissioner of Police, Superintendent Cobb, and Sirdar Jhe Abdool Ali, it was ascertained that the body was that of a Hindu girl, named Dhondee, aged nine years, the daughter of Venoo, a cooly woman, who had reported to the police that she was missing on the 31st ultimo. There were marks of violence on the body. The upper and lower jaws were smashed in. The cheek bone was visible through a wound. There was a large stone, weighing more than six pounds, stained with blood, lying near the corpse. It appeared that, on the forenoon of the 31st ultimo, while the mother of the deceased was asleep and the girl was playing with a boy, named Sukia, aged four years, a man named Rama, aged thirty years, unemployed, and bearing a bad character, who frequently visited the hut, in which the mother lived with Venoo, came up and induced the deceased to accompany him. When the mother awoke she inquired of Sukia as to where the deceased was. The boy said she was taken away by Rama. Venoo thereupon searched for the deceased but without success. She afterwards reported the matter to the police who instituted inquiries for Rama, who is still at large. Some gold ornaments, of the value of Rs. 7 are missing from the body. Rama is not to be found since he was last seen in company of the deceased. Dr. Thomas Blaney, the Coroner, by whose order the body was removed to the morgue, opened an inquest yesterday on the body of the deceased when the following evidence was adduced:—

Venoo, mother of the deceased, and widow of one Babaji, deposed: The deceased was my daughter. Her age was nine years, and she lived with me. On the 31st ult., about 9 a. m., I went to bed as I had been to a wedding the previous night. I fell asleep. The deceased was then outside with a boy here present, whose name is Sukia, and who is about five or six years old. I awoke about 2 p. m. and not seeing the deceased about, I asked where she was. Sukia told me one Rama had taken her away. I went in search of her and searched for two hours. I came home and was crying when some neighbours came, and I told them I could not find my daughter. At 7 p.m., I went with my son-in-law to Maudvie police station, and there reported that the deceased was missing, and I said she was wearing ornaments to the value of Rs. 6 or Rs. 7. None of the ornaments are now on the body, except a brass ring in each ear. I returned home, and since that time I have been searching for the deceased. About 4 p.m. yesterday, my son-in-law, Narayen, came and told me that the dead body of the deceased had been found in a field near the Matoonga chowky. I went there with him, and saw the body lying in an empty hut in charge of the police. The brass necklace now shown me belonged to the deceased. The Rama mentioned to me by Sukia is known to me. He lives in another cart near Mahim. He is a Mahratta and a labourer. He was not employed, and would not work. I had known him for the last ten or twenty one years. He used to visit his mother, who lives in the hut with me. The deceased knew Rama, who is about thirty years of age. He is unmarried, and bears a bad character. He is missing at present. The sarree and the cholee now shown to me were worn by the deceased when I last saw her alive. I saw Rama at the wedding day before the deceased was missing.

Sukia Bapoo said: I do not know my age. I know the deceased. I live in a hut near hers. Three days ago about 4 p.m., one Ramawhom I know came to the cart, where I and the deceased were playing. Rama asked deceased to go with him, and he would give her some boras, and deceased went with him. She did not come back again. Rama said nothing to me. The mother of the deceased was then asleep in her room. She woke up, came out, and asked me where deceased was; and I said she went away with Rama.

At this stage the inquest was adjourned till the 17th instant.

EXAMINED by the dry light of reason there can be nothing more grotesque and childish than the charges made against the Jews, and on which are based demands for their exceptional treatment. One of the standing taunts levelled against the Jewish race, emphasised in almost identical terms by Haman, Apion, Goldwin Smith, Drumont, et hoc genus, is their non-assimilating character. They remain, we are told, isolated in thought and spirit from the people among whom they live, and pursue their own objects and development unconditioned by the influences of their surroundings. Like the Jews of the Medes and Persians the Jews of to-day. The fallacies that underlie this crude barbaric reasoning have been so ably controverted as they are in the current issue of the Revue des Deux Mondes, where M. Leroy Beaulieu, a brilliant and accomplished writer who has already done some service to the Jewish cause, sets himself the task of rebutting the staple arguments of anti-Semitic orators. Admitting that there exist differences of disposition and sentiment between Jews and Gentiles, M. Beaulieu denies that this is a disadvantage for civilisation. "In my eyes," he says, "the ideal of a nation is not a monolith, a single block. Better is it for a people to be formed of elivers elements. If the Jew differs from us so much the better. There is all the more chance of his bringing to our uniform and monotonous ulture some variety."

TIMID Americans need not take to the woods because Canada has placed a couple of war vessels upon the great lakes. England wasn't able to accomplish very much with her gunboats on the waters along our northern border away back in Commodore Perry's time, when our country was an infant. It isn't very likely that one of her provinces will be able to wipe us entirely off the face of the earth, now that the United States is something of a Government itself, even if it had any such intention. The Canadian gunboats come nearer being intended for pleasant cruises of way-up Dominion officials and their families during the sultry season next summer than for any warlike effort against the United States.

SAD DEATH OF A EUROPEAN CHILD BY DROWNING.

SUCCARAM, a servant in the employ of the Colaba Canteen, went, as usual, on Thursday afternoon, a little after 5 o'clock, to clean the Colaba Bath, situate in the compound of Morley Hall. He saw some clothes of a European child on a bench in the room. Sergeant Thompson happened to pass by, and Succaram, calling him, showed him the clothes. Gunner Hill, in the meantime, happened to be there, and on looking into the bath, found the body of a boy, who on being brought out from the water, was identified as the son of Corporal Johnson, of the 20th Company, Southern Division Royal Artillery, and lived with his parents. His age was about nine years. About 5-30 p.m. yesterday, I was passing the Bath-house at Colaba, near Morley Hall, when my attention was called to the bath by a native. I went in and saw some clothes and a hat lying on a bench, and looking into the water in the bath, I saw the body of the deceased lying at the bottom, and I went in and brought up the body. It was naked and life was extinct. There was no mark of violence on it, and there was about three or four feet of water in the bath at the spot where I found the body. I dont know if the deceased could swim.

Succaram Rama, a servant in the Colaba Canteen, said: At 5-15 p.m., yesterday, I went to the Colaba Bath to clean it as usual, and on going in I saw some clothes of a child lying on a bench in the room. Seeing Sergeant Thompson passing by at the time, I called to him, and showed him the clothes. He leaped into the bath and showed to the witness Hill, who had come with him, the body lying at the bottom of the bath. My master sent me for Sergeant Sassicks, and I brought him. The body of the deceased had then been removed from the bath. It is usual for children to bathe in that bath.

Thom Johnson said: Deceased was my son. I never saw him bathe in the bath at Colaba. I cannot say whether he could swim. I last saw him alive at 5-45 a.m., yesterday, when he was at home, and was asleep. I went to the Mahaluxmi Fort. About 7 p.m. I was brought to Colaba, and saw the body of the deceased in the Bath-house this morning. The clothes now lying on the bench were worn by the deceased. He was quite well when I left him yesterday morning. On arriving in Bombay I told him there was a bath in Colaba, but that he should not use that bath, but should use the bath in the house, which his mother would let him use. His mother is now sick in hospital. I keep one servant and have four other children. I left the servant in the house yesterday to look after all my children. My wife went into the hospital this morning, suffering from fits.

Albert John Rollands, a schoolboy aged nine years, said: I knew the deceased. He and I never bathed in the bath-house together. But I and other boys have. I can swim. The deceased used to tell us that he could not swim. He played cricket with us up to 11 a.m. yesterday. He then went away, and I never saw him alive again.

The jury returned a verdict to the effect that the death of the deceased was caused by drowning in a bath accidentally while bathing in it. The jury were of opinion that when the bath was open, some person should be always kept on the premises.

THE Old Masters at the Royal Academy is a delightful exhibition; the Academy does penance such winter for its crimes of the summer. Raeburn, Hoppner, Reynolds, Gainsborough, Romney, among the portrait painters; Constable, Morland, Peter de Wint, J. Baker, Pyne, and Vincent among landscape men, are the painters who chiefly make for the distinction of Gallery I. There are also two most interesting examples of John Frederick Lewis's art, and John Phillips' "A Chat round the Brasero" (36) is a most noteworthy canvas. Landseer in this company is really a mistake; every year his place with the masters is more and more to be questioned. In Gallery II. Rembrandt, Teniers, Ruysdael, De Hooghe, Cuyp, Van der Neer, Terburg, Van der Velde, Van Ostade Sol, Rubens, Van Dyck, Wouverman, Van Goyen, Metsu, and Snyders are well represented. In Gallery III. many of the foregoing are to be seen, together with Murillo, Tintoretto, Nicholas Poussin, Titian, Giorgione, Paul Veronese, Turner, and Crome. In Gallery IV. we have principally Italian masters; Raphael, Bellini, Mantegna, Masaccio, and Perugino. The collection of forty-nine sketches to form part of a series illustrations of the Divina Commedia will attract hundreds to Burlington House. Few will ask themselves why Watersford, has undertaken the loneliness of Waterford, has undertaken the loneliness of this task to look at the several drawings. The series of drawings, by Mr. Herbert Horne, is singularly entrancing exhibition.

I have much pleasure in giving Mrs. Bond a certificate and can confidently recommend her to any Lady requiring at thoroughly practical and experienced Nurse. She has been with me in conjunction with Dr. . . . through a very critical illness and thanks to her care and constant attendance I have got rid of my trouble. Indeed, she has been more like a mother to me than a Nurse, and I shall never forget her wherever I may be. ## COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

BOMBAY MARKET REPORTS.

FRIDAY EVENING, FEB. 3.

BUSINESS during the past week has remained in a very languid state under the adverse influences referred to in our last report; and in our three principal export staples of Cotton, Wheat, and Seeds transactions have been upon a limited scale in quiet markets, though without much movement in quotations. The increase in receipts of Cotton of the new crop this season, compared with last, has now reached over 140,000 bales. The course of Exchange, following that of Silver, has been slightly downward, and though a steadier feeling has prevailed to-day, closing quotations for Bank and Private Paper are 1-16d. lower than they were last Friday evening. A further material rise has taken place in Government Paper which, though now less than has been attained during the week, still shows an advance of ¼ per cent. in Fours. There has not been much movement in Freights; but the tendency in rates is downward in near positions, but steadier from April forward. Wholesale demand for Imports continues slack; but a fair retail business has transpired at about previous prices.

MONEY.—The Presidency Bank's Statement of Affairs, made under Monday's date, continued to show a falling off in the demand for Money as far as the principal financial institution in this city is concerned, and that toa materially greater extent than was disclosed by the Return issued on the previous Monday. In the week now under notice there had been an addition of 16½ lakhs to Private Deposits, while Loans had diminished by 5½ lakhs, the movement in the other direction having been in Bills Discounted, which had increased a good deal more than in the week preceding, at 5¼ lakhs. The net decrease in trade requirements since the previous Saturday was thus represented by some 16½ lakhs, compared with about 4 lakhs shown in the last Return, the difference between this amount and the increase of 20¼ lakhs in the Cash Balance being accounted for principally by an accession to Government Deposits at the Bank's branches. No further change has been made in rates this week, and the Bank minimum remains at 5 per cent. with the outside market easy.

EXCHANGE, after opening with a quiet feeling on last mail-day, became steady, and, at one time, 1s. 2 29-32d. for three months' sight Credits could only be had for two mails; but the rate was afterwards available again for February, and 1s. 2 15-16d. was the rate for any time forward. On Monda. the tone on opening was quiet again, at 1s. 23-32d. for Bank Telegraphic, and 1s. 2¾d. for Demand, and remained thereat throughout the day, the enquiry for remittance having been extremely limited, For three months' sight Credits, the rate was 1s. 2¾d, for ready and forward delivery, with, however, but little enquiry on the part of sellers, for any delivery. The market was still quiet on Tuesday morning, at 1s. 2 23-32d. for Telegraphic, and 1s. 2¾d. for Demand, and Bank remittance remained at these rates all day with but a moderate enquiry; but a little Telegraphic was taken for March transfer, at 1s. 2¾d. For three months' sight Credits the rates were 1s. 2¾d. for February delivery, and 1s. 2 29-32d. for later, at which also a moderate amount was placed; but the business passing either way was very limited, 1s. 2 11-16d. both for Telegraphic and Demand, was the opening rate for Bank remittance on Wednesday in a quiet market, and this quotation remained all day, with but little or no enquiry. For three months' sight Credits the rate was steady, at 1s. 2¾d, with but little changing hands thereat; and later in the day some Bank Telegraphic was placed at 1s. 2¾d. for March transfer, to a small extent, Yesterday, the market opened at 1s. 2 11-16d. for Bank Telegraphic, and 1s. 2¾d. for Demand, and at 1s. 2 27-32d. for three months' sight Credits; but before long, 1s. 2 13-16d. became the rate for the latter, and though the quotation for Bank Telegraphic remained at 1s. 2 11-32d, 1s. 2 23-32d. was refused for Demand, and a fair amount of Credits were placed at the above rate, for February-March delivery. Opening rates to-day were 1s. 2 21-32d. for Bank Telegraphic, 1s. 2 11-16d. for Demand, and 1s. 2 13-16d. for three months' sight Credits for near delivery, at which a fair amount was placed; and, later on 1s. 2 29-32d. was the best rate obtainable for any position, ready or forward. For Bank remittance, 1s. 2 11-16d. was also to be had for Telegraphic in any position; and the market closed steady as follows:—

GOVERNMENT PAPER.—A further advance, to the extent of a half per cent, was established in the price of Fours last Saturday, the closing quotation having been 104 13-16 for this Paper in all positions, 100¼ to 101, nominal, was quoted for 4½ per Cents. On Monday the market was firm in tone, and, continuing its upward movement, advanced ½ to 5-16 per cent., say, to 105½ for Fours for cash and the next settlement, and to 105 1-16 for the 27th February account. Towards the close, however, there was rather weaker feeling, and rates left off 1-16 per cent. lower than these quotations. There was a further slight advance in the market on Tuesday, say of 1-16 per cent. in Fours in all positions, closing quotations having been 105 1-16 for Money and the near Account; and 105 3-16 the end of February; the feeling having been quiet but steady. On the following day the market was firm at a further advance of 7-16 per cent. in the price of Fours, 105½ having been attained for Money and the settlement, and 105 7-16 for the end of the month; and these were the closing rates; with 100½ to 101 still nominally quoted for 4½ per Cents. Yesterday was the settling day for time bargains in Fours, and the market gave way a little from the previous evening's quotations. Accounts still open, having been closed at 105⅜, which was also the final rate for Money, the 27th instant account having declined to 105½, at which there were sellers at the close. To-day, there has been a much weaker feeling, and rates for Fours have declined ¼ per cent., say to 105¼ for cash, and 105 for the account at the end of this month, which are the closing quotations; with 100¼ to 101 named for 4½ per Cents.

Five per cent Municipal Loan is ¼ per cent higher at 115½. Port Trust Bonds are one per cent higher, at 104.

SHARES.—On the whole, only a moderate business has been done in this market during the week, and the tone has generally been quiet. In Cotton Mill shares, however, there has been an important advance in a number of cases; and the same may be said of Press Scrip; but the Miscellaneous market has been almost without movement. Compared with our quotations of last Friday evening we have to report an advance of Rs. 25 in Khatao Mucconji and Madras United Mill shares; of Rs. 22½ in Coorla; of Rs. 20 each in Jevraz Ballon, Framji Petit, and Colaba Land and Mill; of Rs 10 each in City of Bombay, David, and Hindustan; of Rs. 5 in Alliance and Oriental; and of Rs. 2½ on Mazagon. On the other hand, there has been a decline of Rs. 25 on the Gokuldas; of Rs. 10 in James Greaves; of Rs. 7½ in Manockji Petit; of Rs. 5 each in Jamshed and Swadeshi; of Rs. 2½ in Luckmidas; and of Rs. 2 in Anglo-Indian. In Press Shares we note an advance of Rs. 10 in Albert of Kurrachee, Munmar, and New Berar; of Rs. 7½ in Mofussil; of Rs. 5 in English; of Rs. 2½ each in Bombay Cotton, and New Indian. Volkarts are Rs. 10 lower. Oriental Life shares are Re. 1 higher. Thacker and Co. have advanced Rs. 5. Bank of Madras shares are Rs. 10 higher.

IMPORTS.

PIECE-GOODS.—Owing to the continued firmness in Manchester dealers here are steadily holding out for further current rates for staple Grey Goods and refuse to sell at any concession therefrom. The wholesale demand is languid; but retail buyers are still operating freely. Stocks, meanwhile, are much lighter as compared with the average figures for the last three years. In Bleached Goods some Cawnpore and Delhi buyers have made large purchases of Mulls and Nainsooks of medium makes "to arrive"; and rates are firmly supported. In Turkey Red, Dyed, and Printed Goods, as well as in Locally made Goods we have no change to notice. The clearances for the week from the Bazaar have been about 4,000 packages of Imported Goods; and 2,000 bales of Local.

YARNS.—Only a small business has been done during the week in Imported Twist; but the tone of the market has been steady, and prices are unchanged. Owing to the downward tendency of rates for Bombay Spinnings in China, very low offers have been made by China buyers here during the past week, which spinners have declined. The Bazaar dealers and some speculators who held large quantities of Bombay Yarn, have accepted ¼ anna per lb. lower rates, however. Sales in China for the fortnight have been 13,000 bales, with Exchange at Hongkong Rs. 222. Here, the market closed steady this evening at the following official quotations, the week's sales having amounted to only 1,000 bales.

METALS.—A moderate business in Copper has been reported and prices have advanced 4 annas per cwt., the market being steady at the rise. Yellow Metal, on the other hand, is 2 annas per cwt. lower, in a quiet market, and with only a small business passing. Iron also is quiet and unchanged in value for all descriptions.

COAL is firmer, and sellers are not inclined to do business unless at enhanced prices. Owing to the impending strike, and high Freight from home, sellers are now asking for Powell's and Davison's for February-March-April shipment, Rs. 16¼ and Rs. 16 per ton, respectively. Ready Powell's fetch Rs. 17¼; and Davison's Rs. 17 per ton. The stock on the Bunder is now estimated at 30,000 tons. We quote alongside:—

EXPORTS.

COTTON has been quiet, when not actually dull, throughout the week, and only a small business has been passing in either direction from day to day. Prices declined Re. 1 to Rs. 2 per candy all round, in the earlier part of the week; but this was afterwards partially recovered. Purchases for export have consisted mainly of ready new Oomra descriptions and Bengals, and have averaged about 400 bales per diem, besides a little new Bhownugger contracted for, for April-May delivery; while the daily takings of the Mills have been about 500 bales of new Oomras and Bengals, and a little old Oomra, and Dhollera kinds. This evening the market closed steady, with prices Re 1 to Rs. 2 higher than they ruled a week ago.

The Receipts of Cotton of the new crop during the past week have been 40,000 bales, compared with 40,000 bales in the week preceding, and 39,500 bales in the corresponding week last year; and the total increase in arrivals of new Cotton this season as against last is now 140,500 bales.

A little more rain fell at Delhi in the Bengal Cotton circle after the despatch of last Thursday's telegrams from the districts; but the weather had meantime become bright and seasonable again throughout that circle, and in all the districts of the Oomra circle, except Khangaum, where it was still cloudy, but looked like clearing up. At Broach picking had partially begun, and Arrivals were expected rather earlier than the middle of this month. In the Dhollera circle, the plants were ready for picking in some parts of the Dhollera district; while picking had become general at Bhownugger, and in the Wadwan district, where the bolls on the plants were rapidly ripening, the crop was excellent.

Yesterday's telegraphic news from the Cotton districts was of a favourable tenor, bright, seasonable weather—though severely cold in some parts—having set in again over the whole of the area. At Broach the pods on the plants were bursting, and picking had become general.

The following are to-day's quotations for full-pressed Cotton, with the equivalents in Sterling, Cost, and Freight to Liverpool, via Canal, without commission, viz.:—

THE NEW SCHEME OF GOVERNMENT IN HYDERABAD.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

HYDERABAD, FEB. 3.

An important and sweeping jarida, which has caused much comment in official circles here, has just been issued by H. H. the Nizam, thus further carrying into force his new scheme of Government. The jarida states that the new scheme is intended to put the State on a sound financial footing and reduce unnecessary expenditure and increase of security of life and property in the country and strengthen administration. These ends would be secured to certain extent by curtailing the unlimited powers of the Minister and giving definite powers to Departmental Ministers. The cost of administration at present is something over nine lakhs, and the scheme will effect the saving of nearly two lakhs a year, out of officials' salaries. Other retrenchments may be expected by reducing unnecessary establishments. The salary of the Minister Sir Salar Jah is reduced from fifteen to twelve thousand a month. The Minister's personal staff is entirely done away with, and the post of one of the four Deputy Ministers is also abolished, and the remainder receive a uniform salary of two thousand five hundred. The offices of the three Secretarys of State, seven Under-Secretaries, twelve managers of offices, and a Director-General of Mines are completely done away with.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

POONA, FEB. 3.

Extensive theft of jewellery, alleged as belonging to H. H. the Nizam, has been detected by the G. I. P. Railway Police this morning. It would appear that a few days ago a Mahomedan came from Hyderabad with jewels, and sold to some dealers in the city, but the jeweller did not believe them to be genuine and suspecting something wrong informed security. The Mahomedan told him to come to the Railway Station, where he would give him the money, but in the meantime he purchased tickets to proceed to Bombay. Afterwards the jeweller gave information to the police who arrested him on the platform, and found in his possession nearly Rs. 7,000 worth of diamonds. The prisoner pleaded that the jewellery belonged to his relations who was in relationship with the Nizam. The accused was placed before the Magistrate. The case has been adjourned for further enquiries.

DEPUTATION OF THE CURRENCY ASSOCIATION.

THE VICEROY'S REPLY.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, FEB. 3.

A deputation of the Currency Association waited this morning upon H. E. the Viceroy. The deputation was introduced be the Hon'ble Mr. Mackay, and referred to the resolution passed at the recent meeting, asking for the closing of mints to free coinage of silver. The deputation represented all sections of the mercantile and trading community, landowners, manufacturers, &c.

The Hon'ble Mr. Mackay said that the proposal to change the standard value in India was not a new one, and that there had been ample time to consider the question. It was no leap in the dark. Other countries had adopted that which is now proposed, and the Government of India had experience of these countries to contrast with their own bitter experience for the past fifteen years, and they should be in a position to decide whether the change of the standard value was advantageous or not. The Brussels Conference has hopelessly failed. Lord Herschell's Committee had ample time to consider the question in all its bearings. The fall of silver had brought the finances of India to a perilous position, and restricted and embarrassed the trade of the country, and still further decline the value of silver, which was inevitable, and must aggravate the dangers now facing us. Therefore the deputation approached H. E. the Viceroy at the present juncture. The Budget Estimate of March, 1892, showed a small surplus for the current year; and this fall of exchange must have swept away such surplus, and added at least 150 lakhs to the expenditure. This would be met by additional taxation or restriction of railway construction, either alternative would give the greatest dissatisfaction. He referred to the recent deputation of Government servants on currency, and said it would be absolutely impossible to carry on the Government of the country on the present terms. Readjustment of salaries could only be effected by a reform in the currency system. All they hoped for was to expedite the closing of mints to relieve the country of its present unsatisfactory state of affairs as speedily as possible, and induce Government to adopt the change without waiting for the financial crush, which would eventually force the reform.

Mr. Bell Irving, of Messrs. Jardine, Skinner and Co., followed the Hon'ble Mr. Mackay, and touched briefly on the points on which as an interested party he might speak with authority. He was not an apostle of the creed, which held that the closing of mints to the free coinage of silver would curtail trade between India and China, and he spoke as one having large interest in this trade. He condemned the policy of inactivity favoured by various parties interested in tea in Darjeeling.

Mr. O Anderson, of Messrs. Anderson, Wright and Co., spoke next, and after referring to the exploded theory that the depreciated rupee meant increased commercial prosperity, quoted statistics, showing a very small increase in the trade of India as compared with the Netherlands India over a given period. He dealt with the fallacy that silver values were not altered in India, illustrating his argument by reference to the great rise in price, and cheapest food-grains, and the almost incredible hardship caused to the poorest classes in consequence; and the fact that they remained quiet under the enormous increase of the cost of food was simply marvellous. The Currency Association, he said, was trying to push the scheme for putting India's finances on a safe basis, and showing the adjustment of wages and food price, and if we disregard the duty any longer we would lose our reputation for honest Government.

The Hon'ble A. H. Wallis, representing the retail traders; Mr. A. G. Apcar, member of the firm of producers, manufacturers, and exporters; the Hon'ble Mr. Fazulbhoy Visram, of Bombay; Mr. R. D. Mehta, Sheriff of Calcutta; and Mr. Reginal Murray, representative of Banking interests, also spoke in support of the previous speakers, laying particular stress on the points affecting communities and the industries they represented.

His Excellency, in reply, said that the Government of India regarded the present position with the greatest concern, but remedial measures are now under discussion. It was regarded in some quarters with genuine alarm and a good deal of suspicion. The Government was constantly told that they were too much influenced by the distress of its officials, and that their main object was on the one hand to mitigate the hardship of the services, and on the other hand to extricate themselves from the constant embarrassment to which the finances are exposed by the fluctuations in the gold value of the rupee. As to the Government employes they are entitled to abundant sympathy. He was glad to see that this deputation sympathised with them, but he thought those critics had a mean opinion of that Government intelligence who thought that merely to elude the obligations of the services the Government were ready to deal light-heartedly with such a serious question as the Indian currency, or tamper in opposition to their better judgment with the basis of our financial and commercial system. Surely Government would not be so imprudent as to contemplate altering the standard value, because of the inconvenience of the present fluctuations of exchange, because at any moment the surplus might be converted into a deficit, and vice-versa, because they roundly abused, or because their forecast were frequently discredited. Before so serious and far-reaching a project could be entertained, it is necessary to prove a great deal more than that the Government were exposed to annoyance or its servants to special hardship. His Excellency, therefore, recited with utmost attention the present emphatic statement of the deputation as to additional taxation. The fact that such a course was probable was sufficient to answer the assertion that our troubles do not affect India as a whole but foreign sojourners, represented by officers of Government. No class or community could be indifferent to the withdrawal of capitalists from investing money in India, and to the fact that enterprise is languishing. It was, however, not enough to show that the disease existed. They had to convince Government that the remedy recommended was a proper one, and that its effects were not worse than the disease itself. The remedy would have to be a defensible one on strict economic grounds, and considered on politic grounds. It would have to be a safe expedient, and not violate public sentiment or raise disquieting apprehensions. There was nothing so useful as a public discussion in order to disarm hostility; and his Excellency considered a debt of gratitude was due to the Currency Association for the manner in which it mutilated this intricate question and rendered it intelligible to the public mind. His Excellency promised that the deputation's statements and proposals should receive earnest attention. They would be duly laid before the Secretary of State. For the present he could not say more, but he would admit that the Association had strengthened their case by restricting proposals for the present to the closing of mints, and he thought they were justified in holding that the proposal for introducing the standard value common to India and gold-using countries was a reasonable one.

NICKEL is found in New Caledonia in a single mineral garnierite or noumeite, which is a bright green hydrated silicate of magnesium and nickel. In this island the French are rapidly developing what promises to be an industry of world-wide importance. The most improved plan of extracting the metal from the ore consists in reducing the latter in a regenerative furnace resembling in structure the type of furnace used in Belgium for reducing zinc oxide. The reduced metal is afterwards sifted to separate the cubes or discs from irregular and broken masses; they are afterwards collected by means of magnets. Among the more important of the recent applications of nickel is that of the alloy (90 parts of nickel with 80 parts of copper), which is now used for the casing of bullets for some of the small-box rifles which European countries are adopting in their armament. The production of nickel which was about 400 tons in 1878, the year of the discovery of the New Caledonian ores, has now exceeded 5,000 tons per annum. In new Caledonia arrangements are being made for an increased output; operations are being extended also in the district for Sudbury, so that from these two sources a supply of about 10,000 tons of pure nickel per annum may shortly be expected.

IN consequence of the measure taken by the Bank of France all arbitrage operations in gold are suspended, although sterling exchange has fallen to 25'10. Bankers will try the Paris Mint for the recoinage of foreign coins and coinage bars, but thereby a certain loss of interest is incurred, and therefore sterling may fall further. The Bank refuses now to allow gold to be paid into ordinary accounts or rather accepts such payments only on the understanding that the same gold shall be returned or payment made in silver. The Bank refuses likewise to make the usual advances on gold bars and coins.

VANITY FAIR.

(FROM OUR LADY CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, JAN. 13.

LIGHT—more light! is still our cry in London. Picture shows have been the distraction of the week, and it has been dull, dismal, sunless. If there is one form of entertainment ghastlier than another, it is a private view held in semi-obscurity. Why will the Council of the Royal Academy arrange to hold its best show in the dark? A foggy winter's afternoon is not the fittest time to judge of works of art—to do justice to the rich colouring and rare finish of the early Italian Masters, or to appreciate the mellow tones of the Rembrandt school of painting. If picture shows must be held in the gloomy season—and otherwise the great galleries of London should stand empty and useless from November to March—why cannot the Immortals of Burlington House manage as well as the dei minorum gentium of Suffolk Street and the Royal Institute to provide some form of illumination to replace our intermittent sun supply. There may be something revolting to the sense of artistic fitness in introducing the garish gas-light or the searching electric beam amongst a time-worn collection of mediæval treasures, but why not reserve this exhibition for the summer or early autumn weather, and hold instead a show of works of recent artists, to whose more vivid tones the winter half-light would do more justice. I remember, some years ago, when I was not so used, perhaps, to the vagaries of our London climate, or, between ourselves, not so well acquainted with the peculiar little economies of the elect of our British painters, I happened to be in the Academy when an exceedingly dense fog came on. There was a precious collection of old Italian pictures, sculptures, della Robbia ware, gems, and relics, by special favour lent for a short time for the benefit of the British Public—a unique chance in most lives of seeing the stores of rare curios in the possession of private collectors. But it was completely lost to sight in the Plutonian darkness of the morning; and after struggling about for a time, hoping that either the fog would lift, or the lamplighter put in an appearance, we groped out one by one, the last to depart being an enthusiastic Yankee connoisseur who insisted on having a linkman—an attendant with a primitive rushlight arrangement in a lantern to help him to get an idea of the exhibits.

***

In consequence of this experience of Royal Academy mediævalism, a visit to the Old Masters is a matter for deliberation. One must have a guarantee from the weather—a bona-fide sunbeam as earnest of a bright day, as one cannot count on the liberality of the management even in the matter of early English rushlights. So the first sunshiny day after a week of despairing dulness, filled the rooms with as dense a crowd as gathers in May to see Sir Frederick Leighton's Titianesque effects, Alma Tadema's classic fancies, J. J. Shannon's smart society ladies, Arthur Hacker's ethereal Madonnas, and Sargent's strange harmonies of light and shadow. Different as the present collection is from the summer show it is not less interesting, though our sympathy with living, struggling, promising talent is the stronger, there is a singular charm in things that belong to the past. The pictures are such simple history to study—he who runs may read without any previous initiation at board school or college.

In the first room which is devoted mostly to paintings by deceased masters of the British School there are portraits of interest as much for the sake of the model as the artist. Joseph Hollickens, R.A., a quaint deprecating little figure, with an intellectual foreign type of face, showing as clearly as his name that he did not entirely owe his talents as a sculptor to his native England, is represented in the picture standing beside a block of marble with chisel and mallet in hand. A peculiar aureole of red-brown, giving the effect of a Japanese fan behind the sculptor's head, is an addition to the picture which the artist Mr. George Henry Harlow might have dispensed with. The sturdy figure of Sir Walter Scott is unmistakeable. But though we have known it so long as a frontispiece to his works, I think it would be hard for a physiognomist to recognise the author of the immortal novels of our school-days in the thick set, countrified, commonplace figure, painted with uncompromising truth by Sir Henry Raeburn, R.A.; another portrait which does not quite reproduce our ideal is that of John Gibson, R.A., by Sir William Boxall, R.A. The picture shows us a nice gentle faced man—but not our ideal artist. Perhaps his black whiskers and beard under the chin, or perhaps the black frock-coat and choker necktie look too professional, according to our latterday types of painters.

Romney, Gainsborough, and Sir Joshua Reynolds' women are always charming; but they are even more than usually interesting now that there is a revival of the costumes of our grandmothers. Amongst the crowd of spectators there were many reproductions of picture hats and mantles, but in comparing them with the originals it is sad to say that it was not the moderns that had the advantage. A coal-scuttle bonnet on the human head and a coal-scuttle bonnet in a picture are very different things. The artist has a trick of softening the brim with stray curls, and seeing just as much of the framework as suits his fancy. But who could ignore the unutterable hideousness of the reality. A pretty woman may survive it—in the front view there are even some faces improved by it—but behind or in profile—well just look back at the early numbers of Punch, and if you like the silhouettes of women in coal-scuttle bonnets, now is your time, they are going very cheap this week in the London market. Even the charming portrait of Mrs. Martin—one of the three beautiful Misses Beresford, daughters of Francis Beresford, Esq., of Ashbourne, Derbyshire, painted by John Hoppner, R.A., in a wide-brimmed bonnet tied under her chin does not reconcile the British mind even to an idealized coal scuttle. We may be forced by the tyranny of milliners to wear many unbecoming and abominable fashions—purple veils, and spider-spotted net, defunct beetles in our hair, and the carcases of beasts of the rodentia or rat tribes round our necks, but on one or two points we shall hold our own, speech has not preached the horrors of the poke bonnet and the crinoline in vain. We have seen how our progenitors looked in them in Punch, and we are not likely to forget their hideousness.

But this is a digression from the point, though the portraits are indeed full of suggestions of what to wear and how to pose—simple affairs one would say, and yet amongst the old paintings how many have come down to us looking hideous for want of a little thought on the part of the artist or his model. If the ladies, for instance, who figure so conspicuously in the dainty pictures of the Dutch School had not dragged every vestige of hair off their expansive deserts of foreheads they would have been infinitely more charming to look at. Extravagantly broad high foreheads seem to have been esteemed by the old masters. Perhaps they were considered to denote special intelligence or virtue. The Madonna's brow one finds always abnormally high and fair. But on the other hand Reuben's Herodias and her daughter are not wanting in forehead, and whatever may be said of their intellectual faculties, their strong point was not their virtue.

***

A portrait of the Earl of Leicester, the husband of the unfortunate Amy Robsart, of whose murder, as well as other crimes he is considered guilty, is interesting. Like Herodias he is not deficient in brow—his head is perhaps a little narrow, but not enough to account for his want of virtue. But what even the most casual observer cannot fail to notice are his remarkable hands—extraordinarily long, slender, and cruel fingers, one would say now in the light of our knowledge of his character. It would be interesting to know if Sir Antonio More, the artist who painted the portrait, recognized this trait in his patron.

Among the sacred pictures Mabuse's Virgin at the fountain, is the one that leaves the most pleasing impression. One cannot admire Rembrandt's picture of Christ at the Holy Sepulchre, in which with true Dutch realism he gives the Lord a gardener's broad hat and spade, a most undevotional literalness of conception. It seems to me that Magdalen's mistake arose simply out of not expecting to see the Lord, and so when a figure appeared for whose presence she could not at that early hour account, she decided it must be the gardener without requiring a hat and spade to prove it.

Bellini's portrait of a boy, a delicate charming drawing of a child, lent by Captain Holford, Moroni's picture of Titian's schoolmaster, a figure of a man by Mabuse, Rembrandt's old lady and other portraits, are pictures one cannot forget even though one's memory is crowded by recollections of all sorts and conditions of men and women—chief among them Sir Joshua Reynolds' distinguished intellectual people, Gainsborough's ladies usually beautiful, always highbred, Romney's essentially human, loveable women, and Hoppner's expressive-eyed bewitching girls. Last but not least Lady Russell's baby, a creature toddling towards its own reflections in a mirror, while the admiring mother holds it up by its skirts.

In the black and white room a collection of Blake's illustrations to Dante's Divina Comedia are of interest, though in most cases they are mere suggestions, childishly drawn and thinly washed in. But slight as they are one must admire the fantastic imagination that he shows in his designs and the decorative effect he gets without apparent effort.

In the water colour room besides the works of Edward Calvert and Samuel Palmer there are a number of clever studies by Louisa Marchioness of Waterford, which show a grace and fertility of imagination worthy of more persevering effort. Possibly, society made too many claims on her time to allow of her talent being fully developed. Except that she escaped the hard struggle of the professional artist's life, one must regret that Louisa Marchioness of Waterford, was not compelled by fate to earn her own living as it would have no doubt had a beneficial effect on her work.

TABLE TALK.

[BY WALTER BESANT.]

LONDON, JAN. 13.

FREE FEEDS.—The Pall Mall Gazette furnishes certain figures as to the giving of dinners and breakfasts. At Spitalfields, 3,465 children get a dinner three times a week for one farthing. At Giles's, 211,502 meals were given last year to discharged prisoners, women, and children. The London Schools Dinner Association gave 300,000 dinners to children last year. At the Guild of the Holy Redeemer, Holborn, an average of 5,000 breakfasts is given every year to children. In Southwark, 157,423 dinners and 24,757 breakfasts were provided for children last year. These figures, which only touch the outside of the subject, show that twelve millions of dinners were provided, and that something like 4,000 children were fed every day, not counting Sundays. If these dinners would represent to their mothers one halfpenny each, that means the saving to the households of £25,000—a free gift from the rich to the poor.

It sounds very well. Here is something like charity. The children—we can conjure by the name and the thought of the children. We can draw gold from granite, warmth from ice, tears from flint, pity from the diamond—and in the name of the children. It seems so beautiful that they should not go dinnerless. Who can think of the poor hungry children sitting over their tasks at school, without a sigh of pity! And yet—and yet. This beautiful little sum—this five-and-twenty thousand—what has it mostly done? Is has relieved the father of his responsibilities; it has enabled him to drink so much more beer. For if there is one thing more true than another in the history of humanity, it is that when you show a man the way to avoid a duty, he will avoid it. He will not pay for his children if someone else can be found to do it. And if he can find someone to do his duty for him, he loses his responsibility, which is his manhood, and he sinks one step lower, and that a step from which he will never rise. It is not charity to the children that we want; it is the solution of the problem how work is to be found for all. Here are the data. A great big round world, full of waste places, where the sun is hot and the land fertile; full also of places where crowds are gathered fighting for work, or living in crime, the underfed, drunken, producing children weak of will and puny of frame. Given also a country such as ours, to which the waste places belong, provided with ships, machinery, wealth, and everything. Wanted a statesman able to take these people away by the hundred thousand, and to plant them in these waste places. Where is that statesman?

One little contribution to the problem. "There are not many unemployed in the parish," said the lady who works in the poorest parish of London "but there are a great many who only get work about once in three days. It is partly their own fault. They won't work harder than they must, and at the six o'clock call, and even at the nine o'clock call"—a "call" is the calling on of more men at the docks—"there is often no work-waiting man. You see, enforced idleness very soon begets voluntary idleness." A curious illustration of the curse of labour!

The public schools give away £120,000 a year in scholarships. The competition for these scholarships is enormous. Sometimes the sons of quite rich men get them and hold them. Now, it is quite certain that they were not intended for rich men's sons. But because most boys at public schools belong to the professional classes, with whom a scholarship is a great thing, the competition attracts all the best boys; therefore, a scholarship is an intellectual distinction; therefore, the rich boys want the distinction without the scholarship. It is exactly the same at Oxford and Cambridge, and it appears to me that it would be perfectly easy, school or University, for a student to enter as a candidate for a scholarship on either ground—of poverty or of distinction. If the latter, then a scholarship would be a distinction only; if the former, then it would be a distinction and a prop. They will not enter on the ground of poverty, because, though they want the help badly, they will not, if they can help it, own up. Now this is what they should be made to do. If they take money, it should be on the open understanding that they want it. Then the scholarships will become what they were intended to be—ladders by which the poor lad can climb to distinction. It would be a disgrace to have a scholarship under these terms? Not a bit! It would prevent shams, which are disgraceful. Why should the son of a benefited clergyman—rich with £500 a year—or that of a man of letters, be ashamed of honourable poverty? Why should we encourage a snobbish shame for a thing that is not shameful, and a snobbish pretence at hiding what cannot be concealed?

How many readers have ever heard of the Chirological Review? It is the organ of the Chirological Society, which, in fact, is an association of those who practice palmistry. A great time is coming, as we said the other day, for all the people who believe in the old things. Astrology, never dead, is beginning to look up. Palmistry is a profession. Fortune-telling by cards is becoming, I hear, fashionable. Spiritualists are looking for another innings; and Thibet is becoming a Mecca. All these things will go on for a few years, and then we shall be ashamed of them, and put them down, and of the future, and of the present, and of the other world, we shall be left just exactly where we are—not one whit the wiser. Meantime, is it not wonderful that there are people who will not accept the Christian miracles—who will not allow supernatural powers to the Christian priest—and yet swallow all the messages that mean nothing delivered by the spirits, and all the rubbish about Theosophy?

There is something—a very little something—to be said for palmistry. It is acknowledged that the face is, in a way, an index to the mind. We know the commander's nose, the strong chin, the sensual mouth, the cunning eyes, the unintellectual forehead, the weak expression—
